The Very Reverend William Ralph Inge, known far and wide as the "Gloomy Denn," has been made a kuight commander of the Royal Victorian order, and is now Bir William inge. Maybe we have here on explanstion of his gloom. He may have soon the thing coming.

The vice president of a big broadcasting corporation has been divorced by his wife because, by having them as guests at their home, he forced her to hobnob with Amos and Andy, and other entertalners, and endure what passes over the air as their humor. Well, it's easy to see how a court might construe that as extreme cruelty.

The 1930 census shows that the state o Nevada has a population of 20,559, many thousands less than the combined populations of Mansfield, Marion and Lime, to bring the matter home to readers, and less than the population of any one of the ninety-four larger cities of the country which thus far have reported their populations to Washington. And yet the sinte has two members of the upper house of congress. It's constiintional, but will hardly pass us fairly rep-

Use of Explosives in Peace Time.

The talk on explosives broadcasted from Washington over the air, Sunday evening, by Dr. Julius Klein, must have proved some thing of a mine of information to mos listeners in. We know it did to us.

Dr. Klein went into the history of ex plosives from the time of the invention of gunpowder up to those of the present, and brought out, how they had revolutionized the history of the world, not through their use in time of war, but by the many uses to which they are put in time of peace. He told how they had simplified the work of man in almost every line of industry, of their employment in mining and quarrying, in perfecting systems of transportation and communion tion. He spoke of their use as agents for promoting health, their use in agriculture, i medicine and in the sciences. He brought out vividly the great allies they have been to man in oil fields, and in coal, gold, silver, copper and from mines, and hold that had we still to use the laborious methods followed in ancient times in the construction of such monuments as the pyramids of Egypt and of Mexico and other architectural wonders of the long ago, we would not today have our skyscrapers, our great railway systems, our mighty bridges of fron and steel and that there would not be today any great liners of steel plying the seven seas, chines fiving over them as well as over land and vessels coursing under their surfaces The invention of dynamite, he held, made pos sible the mining of metals in a volume which could not be attained without it or som other explosive. It is our ability to mine metals as we do, to quarry stone, to excavate canals and water courses as we do, which enabled the world of today to make the great progress it has.

The doctor remarked that the most, if not quite all, the explosives used today in the works and pursuits of peace are made in different plants and by different forces than those for use in war, and he then uttered the surprising statement that the explosives used in the pursuits of peace in the last four years equalled in volume all the explosives need by all the nations encaged during the four years of the World war, and that the volume of the explosives used annually in 'machines of war are as nothing compared with the volume of explosives used, year after year, in the pursuit of peace.

Dr. Klein, it may be said, is enlightening the listeners in on his Sunday evening talks on many subjects regarding which there are very great misconceptions.

S. PARKER GILBERT, AGENT G ENERAL FOR REPARATIONS Doesn't Look Like Good Politics.

The Rev. James K. Shields, superintenden of the Anti-Salcon league of New Jersey, takes issue with Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, regarding the latter's recently-expressed contention that Dwight W. Morrow, in the event of his election would be "just another wet senator from New Jersey."

In a letter to supporters of probibition, the Rev. Mr. Shields expresses the view that Mr. Morrow, if elected, will mean considerably more than that. He holds that, while it is hardly probable that he would, as senator, prove the militant man the wets would expect him to be, he would probably be for more dangerous than any man of that type.

"It is probably true that no militant wet like Alfred B. Smith or Governor Ritchle, or such a type, can be nominated and elected president. They are not the dangerous type to accomplish the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The Morrow type is much more to be feared-the quiet, dignified scholarly churchman of Evangelical persuasion, who never rants * * * but who stands for the action that will be fatal to the eighteenth amendment."

The Rev. Mr. Shields, like most men holding high place in the Anti-Saloon league, is very probably an adept in politics, but, even so, it a to be questioned if he is manifesting good politics in writing and uttering such letter as he has. The manner in which Mr. Morrow swept the state of New Jersey. dry districts as well as wet, made evident that he received a considerable degree of dry support in the Republican senatorial primary, There is every resson to helleve that, undor ordinary conditions, he will receive some support from the dry Democratic vote of the state. If the state Anti-Saloen leaders are going to extol his virtues as the state superintendent has, holding out that his election to the senate may lead to his candidacy for the presidency, either two or six years hence, it can hardly prove other than an appeal to state pride, and he a decided incentive to support of his candidacy for the senate.

in an event, the Rev. Mr. Shields' tribute to the Republican senatorial candidate should make splendid sampaign Hierature in support of the Morrow candidacy, despite the fact that it evidently was intended to have the contrary effect.

Alike Surprising and Distressing.

A wire from Rome, Georgia, in reference to the last resting place of a former mistress of the White House, is an surprising as it is distressing. It sets out that the directors of the chamber of commerce of Rame, the place of her birth and the scene of her girtdays, have asked the municipal authorities there to assume responsibility for the earling for "an obscure grave in Myrile Mill cometery" in which lies the body of the first wife of the late President Woodrow Wilson. The wire goes on to say that vislors seeking the grave have complained frequently that they were unable to find ! and notes that the chamber of commerce has requested that markers by placed in the cometery directing the way to it.

Let it be hoped that the term, "obscure grave," is used only to indicate the difficulty experienced by visitors in locating it, for it is unthinkable that the grave of any "First Ludy of the Land" could be obscure to those who were her fellow-townspeople, or that lack of care for it called out the request of the chamber of commerce that the municinally take over its future care.

If there is the slightest possibility that the city of Rome will not meet the request of the directors of the chamber of commerce, it grows to us that it is a duty which congress owes the country to take action. So many millions of dollars are annually expended in for loss worthy ways, that our federal legislators should not hesitate in taking steps to make impossible the use of the expression. "obscure" in connection with the grave of one who has served the nation as mistress o the White House. THE $5,000,000,000 CONGRESS.

In the face of a threatened transary delicit, the dividual and corporate-income taxes and the now obvious necessity of returning for 1931 collection to the tax rates of 1920, a prodigally-spending congress goes on piling hardens on the government. The gross cost to the people of log-rolled appropriations in the second session of the security-heat congress will be little short of $5,000,000,000. Deducting postal revenues, foreign war debt payments and oddments of outside fatome, the amount left to be raised by direct or Indirect taxation will approximate $4,000,000,000. dividual and corporate-income taxes and the new

Most of the ductiess glands are small, but one of them, the spleen, is considerably larger than the others. Its function seems to be the formation of the white blood cells.

One of the other principal ductiess glands is the thyroid gland. Thus gland is a very important and indispensable part of the body. Its two parts die one on each side of the "adam's upple," that fumiliar promingnee on the front of the neck. In most persons this gland is so inconspicuous that it serves merely o fill in and round out the contours of the neck. contours of the neck.

The thyroid secretion increases oxidation. Its urincipal constituent is iodine. The thyroid gland takes from the blood stream the iodine removed from the food.

There is a substance called "thyroiden" present in this pland which is very necessary to the body's welfare. If there is too much of this secretion the gland swells and the body is over-supplied with iodine, and may even be poisoned by it.

The underlying cause of goitte has been traced to have mental and physical strain. It may be truced to nervous diseases, to appendicitis, tonsilitis, gallstones and many other diseased conditions of the body.

There is no interesting relation between iodin and the development of goitre. It is a disease common to certain sections of Switzerland, as well as many parts of America.

Now, there is a widespread belief that the lack of iodine in drinking water may be responsible for goitre. This seems like a direct contradiction of the Switzerland idea. It would seem, however, that there is importance in the theory that every child should be fed minute quantities of iodine. It should be made certain that the substance is in the system to perform its regulatory work. But in the cure of goitre of long standing I doubt if iodine is of value.

putting on the RITZ It you've been waiting for a foundation that is so light vou positively von't know you're wearing a thing—you'll be putting on the R11Z as soon as you see it.

It's a special Nemollex summer toundation of soft pliant rayon which smooths your figure just enough

There isn't a bone in it and it's as easily washable as any Just take off the detachable shoulder straps and lingerie Just take off the detachable shoulder straps and slip off the garters. (They're special new garters by the way, with a lot of stretch so that they won't make runs in your hose, and they haven't any bumpy buckle to show through a thin frock. You can make them longer or shorter

The RIIZ is a garment made for youth and for young fig-nics. Our stock disappears almost faster than we can re-order, so you'd better hurry if you're going to be "putting
